National Back to School Month takes place every August, helping families, students, and teachers handle school shopping, adjust sleep routines, and focus on student safety. [1, 2]

Key Goals and Focus Areas

- Shopping and Prep: Buying supplies, clothes, and electronics.
- Safety Awareness: Learning bus, walking, and school-zone driving rules.
- Routine Changes: Shifting from late summer nights to early morning bedtimes. [1, 2, 3]

Helpful Tips for Families

- Check Lists: Review school supply lists early before items sell out.
- Adjust Sleep: Move bedtimes ten minutes earlier each night.
- Review Routes: Walk or drive the route to school beforehand. [1, 2, 3]

If you want, tell me:

- Are you shopping for elementary, high school, or college?
- Do you need a supply checklist or safety tips?
