SNOWY WEATHER

Snowy weather has arrived across Montana, covering towns, fields, and mountain roads in a bright blanket of white. While many communities are waking up to heavy snow and winter conditions, Troy has been spared the heaviest snowfall so far. Even so, the season is beginning to make its presence known with colder temperatures, frosty mornings, and snow-covered peaks in the distance. As winter settles across the state, neighbors are preparing for icy roads, shorter days, and the beauty of the snowy season ahead.
